

Welcome to Belton

"At last a personalised service I can trust"

Any company can tell you that they provide a personalised service, but is it actually personalised? Through the use of managed client portfolios, Belton IT Nexus can ensure that all our clients deal with the best technician for the job. You will experience all the benefits of the reliable 'neighbourhood' computer technician, whilst also knowing that your technician has at their finger-tips all the resources of a large IT company to do the job properly.

"I couldn't believe the repairs didn't take a week, you would normally have to pay extra for a premium service like this"

Our mobile computer technicians are highly skilled and carry all the tools necessary to solve most hardware and software issues quickly and efficiently. If the job cannot be completed onsite, we will transport it to our office, where the repairs will be completed and your computer returned to you. Now that's service.

"Belton was able to provide us with all the solutions we needed"

As IT consultants, not only can we provide general computer repairs and support, we are also able to assist with almost any IT related product or service. We have a range of services and products to cater for all your IT needs.

"The technician was able to take our computer away for repairs minimising disruption to our busy office"

Sometimes visitors to your home or office can be a distraction; if it is more convenient for you, one of our technicians will pick up, repair and then return your computer to you.

"I thought it was going to cost the earth for an evening visit"

Belton IT Nexus comes to you when it suits you, our rates make after hours visits competitive. Our technicians are available evenings and weekends at reasonable rates. Don't think twice next time your computer is frustrating you: call Belton IT Nexus first.
